

Occupational safety guideline

Prantner uses various occupational health and safety measures and precautions to ensure complete occupational safety. Compliance with the Occupational Health and Safety Act (ArbSchG) and the Occupational Safety Act (ASiG) is constantly guaranteed and ensured by informing and training employees.

Prantner operates according to the entrepreneur model based on the specifications of the VBG and implements the following measures:

- Regular assessment and inspection of all existing hazards in the workplace to combat them at their source
- Instruction and sensitization of employees to the hazards - Issuance and explanation of operating instructions
- Ensuring fire protection and first aid measures in accordance with the current state of technology, medicine and hygiene by responsible employees

Employees of Prantner GmbH Verfahrenstechnik are obliged to use the safety equipment provided. If a hazard becomes apparent during the performance of work activities, the supervisor or employer must be informed. Workplace-related risk assessments are carried out regularly to ensure optimum preparation of occupational safety measures.
